ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce the following gentlemen as Democratic candidates for Congress in this, the Ninth District, at the State primary, August 5th, 1916:

HON. W. J. FIELDS, OF CARTER COUNTY

HON. J. W. RILEY, OF ROWAN COUNTY

HON. J. B. HILES, OF BRACKEN COUNTY

MAKE NO MORE MISTAKES

As a Democrat we regret very much that the powers that be should have seen fit to attempt to punish such "dry" leaders as Senator Frost and Representatives Greene, Roach and Harvey by leaving them off the delegation from their respective counties, to the state convention to be held at Lexington tomorrow, and which seems to have been done designedly. There will be no contests there; Mr. Stanley will be allowed to have his own way, hence there was neither sense in, nor reason for, such a course. It merely again proves how foolish some can act when given rope enough. If we are to give Woodrow Wilson Kentucky's vote this fall, there must be no mistakes made at Lexington. This is not a time to punish any one. What we want to do is to redeem Kentucky. We want to get an old-time majority running well up into the thousands and not a suspicious majority of four hundred, such as the face of the returns showed last year. If we are to get a pronounced majority, we will need the help of the "dry" as well as the "wet" voters. The best way to insure it, in our judgment, is for the fine spirit of harmony which prevailed in the Montgomery county convention to manifest itself at Lexington. On the other hand, a mistake or two in the state convention could easily make Kentucky a doubtful state this fall.

Beginning with our first issue in June and thereafter at occasional intervals, we will give a short account of the lives of former distinguished citizens of our county, now dead.

THE OLD SCARS HEALED

The last rage of a bloody shirt have been made into a winding sheet for the ghost of sectionalism, which lies in a dishonored grave," said Irvin S. Cobb, in delivering the annual oration before the reunion of the United Confederate Veterans at Birmingham a few days ago. The Kentuckian referred to the hand-in-hand spirit exhibited by the veterans of North and South alike, the spirit of compassion and kindness, of unity and of loyalty, which has healed old wounds and scars and led the "Boys in Grey" to accept the invitation of the Capital and meet in what may be the last reunion of the veterans of the South.

Not alone with the old soldiers have we seen recently evidences of overcoming the schisms caused by slavery and the rights of States, which lasted until long after those questions were settled. The steps taken at Saratoga this week to consummate the merger of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church South at the General Conference of the Northern branch in 1920 will remove the obsolete distinction of the largest of the Protestant denominations.

It is a peculiar fact that reconstruction following the Civil War had taken place more slowly in our churches than in any other branch of our national life. Cobb at Birmingham referred to the fact that the son of a Confederate State lives in the White House and that a Southern man is Mayor of the country's metropolis. With these and a Confederate veteran as Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, the discordant voice, though long silent in the councils of the nation, had found its most pointed reminder in the cleavage of great religious denominations.

It was in 1844 that the Methodist Episcopal General Conference demanded the resignation of Bishop James O. Andrews, because that dignitary had acquired slaves through inheritance and marriage. In 1845 the church of the South followed the bishop into a separate camp, which has been maintained for more than seventy years. But now the gap is to be bridged for all time.—Louisville Times.

SERVED HIM RIGHT

If e'er I wed,
The bachelor said,
I'm going to cap a queen,
A beauty bright,
Good to the sight,
A perfect girl I want.

She must be kind,
And have a mind
That's brilliant thru and thru,
And must have grace
And handsome face—
No other kind will do.

And she must cook,
Right by the book,
And love her husband well;
And she must stay
At home all day,
No idle gossip tell.
He looked around,
But never found
The girl he looked for;
There was none such;
He asked too much.
He died a bachelor. —Ex.

WILL RUN FOR SHERIFF

I take this method of advising the Democrats of Montgomery county that I will at the proper time make a formal announcement of my candidacy for Sheriff. I had intended entering the race for Assessor but at the insistence of my friends I determined to enter the race for Sheriff instead. Mr. William Cravens will be on the ticket with me. Respectfully yours,
John G. Roberts.

Cottage for Rent—Apply to Mrs. M. A. Gaitskill. (45-1f)

POLITICIAN DEAD

Mr. George B. Cox died at his home in Cincinnati Sunday morning after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Cox was the Republican boss of Cincinnati and Hamilton county for many years and ruled with an iron hand. His friends claimed the secret of his success was due to his absolute honesty and that he never made promises he did not fulfill.

For Rent

Six rooms on first floor, suitable for two families or one. Has water and gas. Mrs. Eliza M. Jordan. (40-1f)

JUDGE ALLIE W. YOUNG

The above is a splendid likeness of the genial Judge who received the instructions of Montgomery, Rowan and several other counties for delegate to the National convention. Being a sterling Democrat his selection would meet with the approval of thousands of Democrats all over the State.

STYLE

Has Worn Out More Clothes Than All the People In the World. Style changes over night, fights its own battles, argues and convinces, changes homes and individuals, even makes the fencing different.

Now, Pinch Back Suits are Style Suits and Right Style. We show and were first in doing so, more pinch back suits than all the stores put together. Of course these suits are mostly for young fellows and men who want to keep young. Blue flannels, green, grey and blue serges have first call. Our assortment is wonderful and our price range broad. Good Suits

$10 AND UP TO $20

A good hunch in the real Pinch is the loose belt with the button in the back; Get it?

Suits for older men too in quiet elegant subdued shades that are pleasing to the eye and soft to the touch. A look here will convince you not only of the superiority of our merchandise but as to our claim as to the first clothing store of the city.

Store News

Last week we gave away thirty sets of Limogue China. This week we will have more of the gold band sets. For quite elegance this pattern is a beauty. Ladies, bring the boys and your husbands to Walsh's and get free with every $30 worth a 42-piece dinner set of Puritan Limogue.

The lid's up on a new Knox Alpine Panama, with a new two-tone band, shown only by Knox agents.

We will not raise the price on J. & M. Shoes, while they cost 75 cents the pair more than other shoes sold here. Our price will not be raised. J. & M. Shoes at the low price of $6.00.
